

Codesquare Helix is a complete warehouse inventory management and sales system. With fully customizable point of sale, item management, and reporting facets it is the only system you will ever need. Helix has been custom built to seamlessly accept simultaneous orders at warehouses, stores, and book shows. Plus, you can easily attach a fully integrated online storefront to increase sales opportunities.

Helix Inventory System Feature List

INVENTORY MANAGEMENT

- Capable of managing billions of items
- Uses the Internet to automatically retrieve book information such as title, list price, and publisher when a new ISBN number is entered into the system.
- Supports manual and hand scanner entry of barcodes
- Allows assignment of multiple location codes for any item
- Provides interface for defining any possible item location.
- Manages movement and inventory verification of items on the floor using either Portable Data Terminals or through the Helix interface.
- Allows assignment of any number of sub-categories for advanced searching and reporting.
- Provides a streamlined interface to minimize time when entering new items and quantities.
- Handles and resolves floating quantities of items that are removed from the system but locations were not specified. This is useful for when buyers pull items from the warehouse floor.
- Provides capability to print item and location barcodes.
- Allows creation of custom ISBN numbers and barcodes for special packaging and items with no ISBN number.

Helix reporting and viewing is customizable for every installation. Whether it's a customer invoice, an office order record, an inventory location report, or a floor handler pick ticket you control what information gets shown and how it appears. Just let us know your reporting needs and we do the rest.

Location Management lets you define any location in your enterprise where you keep inventory. You can also print barcodes for each location to use with portable data terminals.

Inventory Management provides an easy way to enter and update items in your inventory. As new items are entered, fields such as title and list price are automatically retrieved from the internet so you don't have to enter them.
